Pentecost

24th May 2015

Today is Pentecost Sunday, and as we gather again for worship we want to ask God to bless us with the power and presence of his Holy Spirit. This morning, using John 20: 19-23, we will be thinking about how the Holy Spirit's empowering led the disciples from fear to freedom. This evening we are privileged to have Lyndall Bywater with us, and she will be leading us in a time of worship, prayer and reflection. Lyndall is a well-known speaker and prayer warrior, and continues to work as the territory's prayer consultant at THQ.

Today reminds us that God sent the Holy Spirit to the disciples of Jesus, when they were gathered together. He gave them a number of gifts: peace, pardon, purpose and power. So it is right that we ask ourselves: how good are we at being a community of the Spirit? Are we a people of peace, living it and sharing it? Are we living in the joy of pardon? Are we a people with purpose, living in the power of the Spirit? COME AGAIN, HOLY SPIRIT. COME NOW! COME TODAY!

Please note that as it is bank holiday weekend and the beginning of half term there will be no Youth Fellowship this evening.
