Golden Wedding Thanks

Harold & Helen (Stone) would like to express sincere thanks to the many soldiers and friends of Bromley Temple Corps who kindly sent cards and greetings to them on the occasion of their Golden Wedding Celebrations.

Thank You!

On behalf of the Retired Officers Fellowship I would like to thank our friends of Bromley corps who supported us in any way at our coffee morning on 23rd May. The Mbooni Sand Dam project captured the imagination of all who participated in the event and the magnificent sum of £1,402 was raised from the stalls and cafe. In addition we were most grateful for a donation of £500 from the corps 'Bridge' network to supplement the £1057 we had already raised. This more than reached our goal and will enable us to send £3,000 to Kenya. I will be happy to provide more details of this project on request. Freda Larsson.

7th June 2015

It's Sunday again, and we meet here at Bromley Temple for fellowship, service and worship. This morning we will be looking at Jeremiah 18: 1-17, under the heading of 'Feet of Clay'. Kirsten will be prompting us to think about the well-known story in Jeremiah 18 of the potter and the clay, and how God shapes and re-shapes our lives as we seek to follow him in holiness and obedience. There are elements in the story which are challenging for us today: how teachable and flexible are we? Do we expect yesterday's growth to be sufficient for today? God is the Potter; we are the clay. We must allow him to mould us and shape us in the way that he desires.

The songsters are ministering at Norwich Citadel, and our prayers are with them as they seek to present the gospel there in both music and word. Lieut-Colonel Graham Owen, CMS Ian Payne and RS Mike Traher are attending the conference 'Imagining Transformation', which is an opportunity for leaders from larger corps to look at new expressions of mission and ministry.

Please note – there will be no evening meeting and no Youth Fellowship.

Congress Tickets Available!

Two Congress Packages - including tickets for the main events and a Travel Pass - are available at £90 each. If you know anyone who may be interested in these, please let Gill know.

Special Request from DHQ

We were sorry to learn that a number of delegates have not been granted visas to attend the Congress. As a result, the Congress Office needs to secure the following:

- 1) Uniformed Salvationists who will be prepared to carry flags.
- 2) People who will assist in the grand finale featuring the Blood of the Lamb. This is the scene where converts march and then appear in white.

In addition, there are still volunteer opportunities to assist with things around the O2. If you would like to volunteer your services or know of anyone who might be interested in doing so, please let Gill know as soon as possible - so your details can be passed to DHQ.
