17th June 2018

Welcome to Bromley Temple Salvation Army. Today is Father's Day, which quite naturally prompts us to reflect not only on the relationship we have experienced with our own fathers, but also with our heavenly Father. Our theme this morning is 'A Game of Two Halves', based around The Lord's Prayer and John 14:1-3.

Following the meeting, all are invited to go outside for the commissioning of the new corps flag. We will sing together song 989: 'We'll shout aloud throughout the land' (see enclosed slip), and offer a dedicatory prayer.

This afternoon we will be sharing with the Band and the residents of Bromley & Sheppard's Colleges in a united Songs of Praise at 4pm. We'll be leading the service through, so come along for a lovely time of fellowship and praise in the quadrangle (there will be cover under marquees should the weather be uncooperative – pray for a sunny afternoon!).

Have a good day at the Army and in the open-air.

Musicals and More

General John Larsson (Ret.) writes: 'I am grateful to the International Staff Band for the idea of recording this CD. The 16 classic and new items range from major overtures of the Gowans and Larsson musicals to tracks based on single melodies, and from exquisite devotional numbers to sparkling cornet and trombone ensembles. Thirty-nine of my song melodies from the musicals and beyond are featured in one way or the other on the CD, and the booklet contains the lyrics of them all'.

The CD is available from SP&S at £13.95.
